

A Kiss In The Morning Early

Trad.

G D G C
'Twas early one morning a fair maid arose
G C D G
And dressed herself up in the finest of clothes
G D G C
And off to the shoemaker's shop sure she goes
G C D7
For the kiss in the morning early
G D G C
The cobbler arose and he soon let her in
G C D G
His awl and his hammer were neat as a pin
G D G C
And he had the will for to greet her so slim
G C D G
With a kiss in the morning early

G D G C
O Cobbler, o cobbler, 'tis soon we'll be wed
G C D G
And nestling together in a fine feather bed
G D G C
So give me two shoes with two buckles of red
G C D7
For my kiss in the morning early
G D G C
The maid hid the shoes at the back of her waist
G C D G
She praised his good cobbling and shoemaker's taste
G D G C
And home to her father she mournfully faced
G C D G
With a kiss in the morning early

G D G C
O Father, o Father, I've got me a man
G C D G
And he is the one I would wed if I can
G D G C
As handsome as ever in leather did stand

G C D7
For my kiss in the morning early
G D G C
So the father was thinking and thinking again
G C D G
For to wed her to riches and have him for kin
G D G C
Who knows but it might be a prince or a king
G C D G
With a kiss in the morning early

G D G C
Who knows but it might be a jobber from town
G C D G
Or a wealthy sea captain who's sailed the world round
G D G C
A man with some thousands and thousands of pounds
G C D7
That she met in the morning early
G D G C
So the father was smiling, his daughter embraced
G C D G
And touching the buckles he drew back in haste
G D G C
He spied the red shoes that were tied round her waist
G C D7
Oh it was in the morning early
G D G C
O daughter, o daughter, he started to shout
G C D G
When he did discover what she was about
G D G C
God knows 'twas none but that old cobbling clout
G C D G
With a kiss in the morning early
